

ABSTRACT

A wheel for an automotive vehicle has a hub for mounting to an axle of the automotive vehicle. A rim is disposed radially outward from the hub and being configured for receiving a tire. A support structure extends between the hub and the rim. The hub, rim and support structure each have an outer face. The outer face of at least one of the hub, rim and support structure has formed thereon monetary indicia.